Complete Streets Webinar - American Society of Civil Engineers. This webinar provides planners, engineers, and other members of the professional transportation design community with technical complete streets design implementation tools, creating the foundation necessary to effectively plan and create complete streets and networks that serve all users. The material covered will define the typical goals of complete streets projects along with a thorough review of the leading national design policies and guidance, including Federal and State DOT guidance. An example design project will be used to illustrate the design process for selecting key design controls and criteria to accomplish a complete street project design. An experienced instructor recognized for their design experience and teaching expertise will instruct the webinar.

Presenters: Eric Martinez, County Engineer
