Projects for Council Consideration

- & Carrie Quade mural maze for WR Splash Pad © Cost not to exceed $67,000

Carrie Quade Splash pad mural maze

Carrie Quade Splash pad art maze

- Low-tech interactive 3D maze in a design resembling the profile of mountains and trees, using colors complementary to the splash pad design.
- & Covers the primary wall that faces the splash pad, where visitors can trace their fingers within wide, rounded grooves through the length of the wall.
- & Cost not to exceed $67,000.

Carrie Quade Splash pad art maze

- № The grooves will be painted a shade of blue, and the raised areas will be alternating colors that work with the color palette of the splash pad.
- ₹ The brightly colored mural without the maze will wrap around the two short sides of the structure.
- Real The artist is working with the designers to ensure the final mural will accommodate all necessary safety signage and equipment.

Carrie Quade Splash pad art maze

- The mural will be made of Precision Board High Density Urethane (HDU) panels, an environmentally friendly, nonabsorbent material that is lighter and longer lasting than wood, further coated in a durable semi-gloss paint.
- © Comments gathered through an Open Forum survey and a table at the Farmer's Market were largely supportive for the proposal. Additionally, public comment over the last several years has consistently supported the concepts of public art in White Rock and at a splash pad.
- © Cost not to exceed $67,000

2020 APPB Proposals

APPB recommends the following expenditures to come from the dedicated Art in Public Places fund:

k Carrie Quade splash pad mural $67,000

€ $67,000

k Jeff Segler "Boys of Pajarito Plateau" $70,000

k

k Ed Grothus "Sunflower": $60,000

$197,000

~$15,000 / year for maintenance

