1	Love them all!	6/22/2025 5:00 PM
2	Does not depict Los Alamos, or jive with the feel of the town	6/22/2025 3:26 PM
3	Spend the money helping with health care, food, and housing for the undeserved in our community.	6/22/2025 10:50 AM
4	All of the mural options are too busy , the last option is the best of the three in that respect . Less is more folks . We dont have to clutter up and fill space just because we can .	6/22/2025 10:16 AM
5	I like the bright vibe of option 2. Optio3n 3 feels too dull and option 1 feels too abstract.	6/22/2025 9:55 AM
6	Don't like the right panels of #s 1 and 2. Looks unfinished.	6/21/2025 3:47 PM
7	Just don't care for the "glitches" Would rather more real representation of floral and fauna. Especially the birds.	6/21/2025 3:46 PM
8	Design option 3 looks the least disjointed, and the colors seem a bit more muted than for the other two options, which I find preferable. Even so, the mural will take the visitors' eyes off	6/20/2025 2:04 PM everything else there is to see along that stretch of road. I think it will just not blend in with anything else.

9	I think art is great, but I've worked with nonprofits and government organizations to realize mural projects in Santa Fe and Taos and your budget is way too high, indicating you are wasting money or being taken advantage of and therefore irresponsible. You should hire an artist that is an indigenous person/member of a local Pueblo community. Your design proposals are without meaning or message and empty of any real impact, like so much of what this town produces or approves. Do better, push yourselves and serve our other community.	6/17/2025 3:13 PM
10	The more abstract Rio Grande Sunset is a much better option.	6/17/2025 8:54 AM
11	I really like the concept but I'll admit that I think the designs are falling a bit short. The images feel disjointed to me. The one with the bikes for example flowed together much better.	6/15/2025 8:30 PM
12	Tacky, ugly, expensive, breakable, stupid!	6/14/2025 9:45 AM
13	But see below	6/14/2025 7:30 AM
14	We should not spend taxpayer dollars on art when we have higher priorities, such as housing and businesses in Los Alamos	6/13/2025 7:01 PM
15	I like all of them	6/13/2025 5:50 AM
16	I do not like option 2, option 3 is also nice.	6/12/2025 10:04 AM
17	First, what a wonderful way to bring joy to our community. Thank you! I really love the bright colors of Local Flora and Fauna 1-- too often people only see the muted tones of our desert landscape. This is a great example of the bright tones that are all around us...	6/12/2025 10:00 AM
18	Option 3 with some amendments, if possible, using some cultural references rather than more flora & fauna. Culture is a societal construct and the design doesn't seem related to 'culture.' "...various species, including primates, birds, and even insects, exhibit cultural behaviors such as tool use, communication, and food preparation methods that are passed down through generations." (AI generated from Wikipedia and Psychology Today). Or perhaps not call it Cultural References but something like "Serene Southwest".	6/12/2025 2:31 AM
19	I support ABP, but not this project in this location. Looks like graffiti!	6/11/2025 10:35 AM
20	Proposed artwork looks like graffiti.	6/11/2025 8:58 AM
21	all are beautiful. I like the Overlook backdrop of this one.	6/11/2025 6:23 AM
22	These are unattractive and do not reflect the flora and fauna of our Pajarito Plateau. Where are the 'little birds'--the chickadees, house finches, nuthatches, hummingbirds? Or big birds like raven and crows and hawks and owls? And for goodness sake, ditch the roadrunner. And the saguaro cactus! This is northern NM, not AZ. -- Why in the world are we giving work to a Texas artist when there are a number of LOCAL tile/mosaic and mural artists in Los Alamos and, obviously, Santa Fe, that could be considered per the AFFB mission statement? The artwork was rejected for a reason: no one likes the proposals. Is the artist an AFFB relative? Has the AFFB/County already entered into a contract and are forced to accept the artist's work? Re-think this before you spend $55k on something that will permanently NOT reflect Los Alamos. Let the public see the as-close-as possible artist's final proposal before you make a decision. - - Or spend part of the money to re-locate the Pollyanna statue at the library so it can be more easily seen as was requested by the family who donated it in memory of their daughter. This was requested respectfully months ago.	6/11/2025 12:21 AM
23	Is this a native artist?	6/10/2025 6:30 PM
24	No problem with the idea but the designs are rather unsightly. Come up with a better design.	6/10/2025 2:16 PM
25	I like bright and bold, but these as murals just seem out of place.	6/10/2025 1:07 PM
26	I think it does not look good, especially in the proposed location. Numbers 1 and 2 are especially bad, they look like a 10 year old copy and pasted random things really poorly. I feel like it would not enhance the community, instead it would make it look more trashy. Option 3, while not something I would support, is the best because it has more cohesiveness.	6/10/2025 12:13 PM
27	None of the above.	6/10/2025 10:41 AM
28	This costs a ridiculous amount of money and we don't need it.	6/10/2025 10:06 AM

Art in Public Places: Justice Center Wall Art Project Survey

29	This seems like a horrible waste of money and will be much better suited elsewhere in the community. This mural will be neglected in two years and start to look bad.	6/10/2025 7:50 AM
30	I'm glad there is art in our lives!	6/10/2025 7:19 AM
31	I prefer the dynamic color of Local Flora & Fauna 1. Number 3 is my least favorite as the background of the mural matches the wall.	6/10/2025 7:15 AM
32	I believe design 3 blends better with the building colors. Designs 1 and 2 dominate the building architecture.	6/10/2025 5:00 AM
33	I do not believe this Public Art project on the Justice Center is a good use of public funds.	6/10/2025 1:24 AM
34	Waste of time and money.	6/9/2025 10:59 PM
35	I really like all 3, but option 2 is my favorite.	6/9/2025 9:47 PM
36	Los Alamos is known for the Lab, not roadrunners and butterflies. I think this looks like cheap graffiti and does nothing to enhance the aesthetic of the downtown area.	6/9/2025 9:43 PM
37	Rather than nature/flora & fauna, I would prefer a more people/societal/justice-centric image	6/9/2025 9:36 PM
38	These murals are UGLY and incredibly gaudy. If you're going to spend this money on art, it should be tasteful and complimentary to the beauty of our community. This looks like cruise ship art.	6/9/2025 9:19 PM
39	This is not what I pay property taxes for! What is your problem? This is not your money.	6/9/2025 9:18 PM
40	None of these designs represent Los Alamos and our history.	6/9/2025 8:32 PM
41	Love the raven	6/9/2025 8:18 PM
42	Needs more deer	6/9/2025 7:26 PM
43	They're all busy and distracting and make they wall ugly. Would prefer a simpler, less busy option or to spend this money elsewhere.	6/9/2025 6:53 PM
44	What happened to the mural planned for the golf course?	6/9/2025 6:48 PM
45	These designs look like graffiti defacing public walls -- too large, too busy, too colorful. The plain stucco walls look so much better.	6/9/2025 4:14 PM
46	I love the bright energy of option 1! Is there any way to bring the local petroglyphs and terrain into it?	6/9/2025 3:55 PM
47	Waste of funds	6/9/2025 3:46 PM
48	I would love to see something similar proposed for the barriers placed on Trinity by Ashley Pond.	6/9/2025 3:33 PM

1	Does not fit the feel	6/22/2025 3:26 PM
2	Do we really want to draw attention to the justice center /jail? It's already by default the center of town because of proximity to Ashley pond . Let's not draw more attention .	6/22/2025 10:16 AM
3	I can't think of a location to suggest for this piece.	6/20/2025 2:04 PM
4	I like this location over the golf course. It has greater visibility and accessibility	6/15/2025 8:30 PM
5	But something nice to look at and not breakable	6/14/2025 9:45 AM
6	This is a great location. Please consider adding more locations in the future...	6/12/2025 10:00 AM
7	More art on Trinity would be perfect!	6/11/2025 4:50 PM
8	Much prefer the plain stucco wall at the Justice Center.	6/11/2025 10:35 AM
9	Please leave the stucco wall at the Justice Center as is. Use the Art in Public Places fund for sculptures around the pond.	6/11/2025 8:58 AM

10	I love this! I look forward to seeing it by the Justice Center. Great project!	6/10/2025 4:50 PM
11	This location should be used for community or the same as the location below the bridge by the co-op	6/10/2025 7:50 AM
12	I believe that having such a beautiful piece of art in a location where the lanes merge is a distraction--especially to visitors, that may not know the road constricts.	6/10/2025 7:15 AM
13	It would be nice if there was a master plan for art installations rather than a haphazard display of ADHD planning without Adderall	6/10/2025 5:00 AM
14	The location is fine for something smaller and more tasteful, but not for this monstrosity.	6/9/2025 9:19 PM
15	No. Abort the idea now and stop wasting taxpayers' money on luxury items. I cannot believe it was ever considered to buy Boys of Parjarito Plateau without getting that ugly painting appraised. Now you want to spend $55,000 on this? Stop the insanity.	6/9/2025 9:18 PM
16	I think it will be a distraction for drivers.	6/9/2025 6:48 PM
17	I don't mind the location, but not everyone will always agree with the location. Something still needs to be done with the golf course wall.	6/9/2025 5:02 PM
18	The plain stucco walls look classy. Please don't deface them.	6/9/2025 4:14 PM

#	IF "YES", PLEASE EXPLAIN:(WHICH ELEMENTS WOULD YOU COMBINE?).	DATE
1	I like the muted colors of option 3 but like the concept and content of option 2 better more than option 3. I hope this moves forward! We could use some sprucing up of Trinity Drive and that side of the police station.	6/22/2025 4:25 PM
2	Maybe more references from higher elevation, like Pondeosa Pine, elk and bear	6/22/2025 4:13 PM
3	I like the third, but like the woodpecker in the second	6/21/2025 3:59 PM
4	More birds	6/21/2025 3:46 PM
5	All ugly and tacky	6/14/2025 9:45 AM
6	Bring the deer and acorn woodpecker from Mural 2 into mural 3. Remove the roadrunner. Add a lizard.	6/14/2025 7:30 AM
7	I like the cultural one but with more nature elements	6/13/2025 5:50 AM
8	I'd love to see the western tanager bird in Option 1.	6/12/2025 10:00 AM
9	Option 3 with some amendments, if possible, using some cultural references rather than more flora & fauna. Culture is a societal construct and the design doesn't seem related to 'culture.' 11	left side of No 1 and right side of No 2.	6/11/2025 3:20 PM
12	Option 3 is least offensive!	6/11/2025 10:35 AM

Art in Public Places: Justice Center Wall Art Project Survey

14	Option 3 is the least offensive.	6/11/2025 8:58 AM
15	Please do not use taxes to pay for this.	6/10/2025 3:12 PM
16	It would be neat to include petroglyphs somehow in Option 2	6/10/2025 8:14 AM
17	They are all pretty, but I do not support this work or the artist	6/10/2025 7:50 AM
18	I think we should have local birds and plants, not a road runner	6/10/2025 7:20 AM
19	The back drop of the mesas from design 2 would improve design number 3.	6/10/2025 7:14 AM
20	With a master plan each installation could feature and highlight one element rather than trying to include so many elements into a single installation.	6/10/2025 5:00 AM
21	Government will never spend other people's money as carefully as their own. Here we go again, with the wanton willful spending.	6/9/2025 9:18 PM
22	Ditch the dove and add the mountain bluebird	6/9/2025 8:33 PM
23	I like the prickly pear cactus in #1 better than #2 (but like #2 best overall)	6/9/2025 8:30 PM
24	I would like to see the cactus as flowering, and more color variation among the birds like the other murals had.	6/9/2025 8:20 PM
25	Overall I prefer the more traditional #2, but the #1 design has apricots and deer and cactus that are wonderful.	6/9/2025 8:18 PM
26	Deer and butterfly	6/9/2025 7:26 PM
27	Think they are similar. Will they fade in our sunlight?	6/9/2025 6:48 PM
28	I like how 3 blended in better so it didn't feel so out there, but it was too much brown	6/9/2025 5:09 PM
29	Option 3 is the least disjointed.	6/9/2025 4:14 PM
30	I like #2 best but wish it had a roadrunner.	6/9/2025 4:09 PM
31	Answered that already-but the vibrant colors of the wildlife from 1 with the cultural background of 3.	6/9/2025 3:55 PM
32	I like 2 best, I wonder if petroglyphs could also be included	6/9/2025 3:48 PM

29	I don't love any of these designs	6/10/2025 5:57 PM

33	Aspen Trees, pine trees	6/10/2025 9:06 AM
34	Ponderosa pine.	6/10/2025 8:03 AM
35	I would rather see the wall blank, then spend the money on this project	6/10/2025 7:50 AM
36	Try not to make it too earth tone. It will look better if at least some stands out. Otherwise it will just look sunfaded	6/10/2025 7:44 AM
37	Local plants and animals only. Not road runners	6/10/2025 7:20 AM
38	No, it can't be all inclusive.	6/10/2025 7:15 AM
39	No. I like the colors as they appear in the example.	6/10/2025 7:14 AM

45	People, society, culture, injustice/inequity and justice/equity	6/9/2025 9:36 PM
46	Scrap the whole thing and propose a different concept. This artist isn't a fit.	6/9/2025 9:19 PM
47	Please, stop with these idiotic ideas. No one benefits. The real question: Except for the artist(s), who receives a $55,000 benefit?	6/9/2025 9:18 PM
48	None of these designs say anything about Los Alamos. The road runner is never seen in Los Alamos. The cactus is rarely seen. The bright colors say nothing of the subtle beauty of Los Alamos mountain vistas.	6/9/2025 8:50 PM
49	I'd love to see a bear or mountain lion. A flock of geese in the sky?	6/9/2025 8:37 PM
50	No	6/9/2025 8:37 PM
51	Omega bridge	6/9/2025 8:33 PM

53	Zia sun symbol?	6/9/2025 8:20 PM
54	Something from the lab, like a satellite comm dish or the bridge?	6/9/2025 8:18 PM
55	I think the artist should be allowed to be an artist and shouldn't have all elements of the artwork dictated to him. I like the third example by a landslide in comparison to the other two.	6/9/2025 7:58 PM

64	It seems to me that some kind of Los Alamos element to be added either the logo for the county or even some kind of attachment to the history of Los Alamos. Some may say the historical factor is added to everything but I think some kind of inclusion of imagery such as main gate or other things related to Los Alamos's founding could make it feel more community based	6/9/2025 5:15 PM

70	Perhaps a local large animal, e.g., deer, elk, bear, cougar, coyote, bobcat, etc. I see them every year in our community.	6/9/2025 4:35 PM
71	Ponderosa pines.	6/9/2025 4:32 PM

#	RESPONSES	DATE
1	I worry about it being too bright and vibrant so as to not be realistic. But that's just me--- I like more realistic landscape art.	6/22/2025 4:25 PM
2	No	6/22/2025 12:42 PM
3	The cactus designs , we don't have saguaro cactus in these parts . Let's have it actually reflect local plant life and not a cartoon representation of what people think the southwest looks like	6/22/2025 10:16 AM
4	No	6/22/2025 9:55 AM
5	I like the background in number two better than in 3, but like 3 the best.	6/21/2025 3:59 PM
6	I would like #1 better if the white section with blue ribbon would be replaced with flora or more birds and would change my vote.	6/21/2025 3:47 PM
7	Finding the contrast of realism with glitches are jarring to me. Fun to find various items within the piece that are recognizable vs the total abstract sections.	6/21/2025 3:46 PM

11	The whole design	6/14/2025 9:45 AM
12	I have never seen a roadrunner in Los Alamos. Maybe they are in the outskirts, but the presence of the roadrunner in every mural I think is incorrect. In Mural 3, I would rather see a deer or whiptail lizard; and an acorn woodpecker, instead of the roadrunner.	6/14/2025 7:30 AM

16	Option 3 with some amendments, if possible, using some cultural references rather than more flora & fauna. Culture is a societal construct and the design doesn't seem related to 'culture.' "...various species, including primates, birds, and even insects, exhibit cultural behaviors such as tool use, communication, and food preparation methods that are passed down through generations." (AI generated from Wikipedia and Psychology Today). Or perhaps not call it Cultural References but something like "Serene Southwest".	6/12/2025 2:31 AM

1	Pretty well--- but need more mountain environment elements.	6/22/2025 4:25 PM
2	Not the kind of art we want or need	6/22/2025 3:26 PM
3	Do you think it does ? Seems all pretty copy and paste of the cartoon depiction of the southwest . Really if we are going to reflect the culture and identity and environment of this unique area we should include elements actually from this area . One example is the wildlife selected . Deer are the unofficial mascot of Los Alamos , where are they ? Or do we just see to many in real life ?	6/22/2025 10:16 AM
4	Not sure.	6/21/2025 3:47 PM
5	Walking alongside of it would elicit some conversation about the observation people make regarding seeing these items in their everyday life which ties them to their community	6/21/2025 3:46 PM
6	Science or History would be a better option.	6/17/2025 8:54 AM
7	It captures Northern New Mexico but nothing in the design feels special to Los Alamos except for the one view but if it hadn't said it was the Anderson overlook, I wouldn't have known it	6/15/2025 8:30 PM
8	It's tacky	6/14/2025 9:45 AM
9	See above. I very much support a mural in town, but the contents can be more accurate in my opinion. I had a hard time deciding between Mural 2 and 3, but I like the muted tones of the canyon walls background in Mural 3. I think it fits better in Los Alamos, and what we see from town.	6/14/2025 7:30 AM
10	The 'first glance' is that this is more of an arid desert scene, not the mountainous vistas we actually see surrounding this community.	6/12/2025 2:31 AM

22	The mural is representative of the environment but doesn't seem to include the identity or culture.	6/10/2025 7:15 AM
23	If design 3 is selected it will be important for the coya cactus in the back ground be smaller of have more detail added as they kind of look like sauaro cactus which we don't have here.	6/10/2025 7:14 AM
24	Los Alamos is known for it's science and nature. And when we have the opportunity to showcase Los Alamos in art, it feels like a good opportunity to highlight the beauty of the natural landscape we have the privilege to live in	6/10/2025 6:47 AM

8	Make it clear from the beginning that opposing the project is an option, rather than asking for selection between the three art projects	6/9/2025 6:49 PM
9	If I hadnt been able to blow up the pictures on my phone, I couldnt have expressed an opinion. Since these are just mockups anyway, the images should have contained ONLY the designs, with no surroundings.	6/9/2025 4:09 PM

3	In my opinion painting a mural in town is not a terrible idea , but let's have some better examples . We as a community don't have to rush into things just because the council has money burning a hole in their pockets . Maybe we should just save our money and not paint a mural at all . I'm sure there are better ways for Los Alamos County to spend my tax dollars if they would just put their minds to it . I have a suggestion, I'm sure it will cost the same amount of money to get rid of the terrible barriers we surrounded our beautiful Ashley Pond with for no reason .	6/22/2025 10:16 AM

23	I hope this is a joke and you are not seriously considering spending $55,000 on a mural. Upon entering the town, at the roundabout, everyone is immediately greeted by an eyesore from a razed hotel. How about focusing on doing something with that dump? And Marimac "shopping	6/9/2025 9:18 PM center" has a bunch of boarded up old businesses - another dump. And the old CB Fox is "boarded up" - another dump. And don't get me going on how many businesses/buildings near the White Rock Smith's are abandoned - another dump. How about focusing on problems rather than spending taxpayer money on something that offers no value and no return on investment? I have lived in Los Alamos for 20 years. We could do so much better, but it does not begin with blowing money on murals. Sheeeeeesh.

24	I strongly dislike the idea of "colorful glitches" or "scribbles" in #1, they look like mistakes or graffiti (this includes example #3, Rio Grande Sunset, I like the other works). This is my favorite art in public places survey I've ever seen, good choice of artist.	6/9/2025 8:30 PM
